

A Gift in your Will to make Maurice Zeffert Home (Inc) the best Jewish aged care facility in the world.

The heart of our local Jewish community

Because our Elders deserve exceptional care and exceptional facilities

Did you know?

We are Western Australia's ONLY Jewish aged care facility that caters to our Elders' every need – low care, high care, emergency respite and dementia specific care.

A gift in your Will can safeguard Maurice Zeffert Home's financial future and ensure that the home remains an integral part of our community.

We employ a Wellbeing Manager, two Cultural Coordinators, an Occupational Therapist, Physiotherapist and Therapy Assistants who work with qualified Nurses and Care Staff to address each resident's personal mobility, dexterity and activity needs.

A gift in your Will can help to ensure that resident wellbeing services are fully funded and enable every resident to live their life to the fullest.

We are committed to providing residents with Kosher meals of the highest quality but it comes at great expense – Maurice Zeffert Home (Inc) budgets at least 10% above the industry standard per resident, per day.

A gift in your Will can help to ensure that current and future residents continue to receive fresh, nutritious Kosher meals that surprise and delight.

Maurice Zeffert Home (Inc) has an ambitious plan to phase out its shared accommodation.

A gift in your Will can help to ensure that every resident can live in comfort, with privacy and dignity.

Maurice Zeffert Home (Inc) – serving our local community for more than 60 years with kindness and compassion.

There comes a time when coping at home alone is not a proposition. A time of carefully choosing the right words. When that moment arrives, becomes a great pain to the ones near and dear to you, a difficult moment of explaining why you must leave the surroundings after decades of choice and expecting to be there forever, not realising that forever is not infinite. Luckily for me I was fully aware. I understood that the time had come as I was unable to safely cope without twenty-four-hour assistance. An aged care home it had to be. My only experience of aged care was many years ago and I had bad memories of that type of institution for many years so my entry to Maurice Zeffert as a Low Care resident was a surprise. The efficiency and cleanliness are that of a five-star hotel crossed with a hospital. Being in Low Care provides me with the level of independence I need. Meals are served in a hotel-style dining room or can be delivered to my room. The accommodation is like home in all respects and I can have visitors at any reasonable time. The nursing staff are most caring and efficient, as are the general staff who perform other duties. In all, the facility is well staffed. In conclusion, when the time comes to make that final decision about what comes next, remember there is a good option.

Sol Bell, MZH Resident

When my staff members come to work I want them to think of every resident as they would a treasured grandparent, parent, aunt or uncle. So that is the starting point from which we are delivering care. The expectation is that it will be done with heart, with kindness, with compassion. That's what makes MZH special.

Samantha Hayward, Residential Manager, Maurice Zeffert Home (Inc)

We've dealt with so many wonderful, dedicated and caring MZH people over our five-anda-half year journey. It's hard to believe that so much time has passed since my mother was almost literally "dragged kicking and screaming" to MZH, but in the intervening years, through the many ups and downs and otherwise, there has been one constant, and that is the exceptional level of care she received. Once my mother had made up her mind to do (or not do, as the case may be) something, nothing short of a nuclear explosion would change her mind, so the fact that the MZH staff's dedication to helping her never wavered in the face of what at times must have been fierce resistance, is fitting testament to that level of care.

This is even more the case, because our family circumstances made personal intervention by my sister and I during those difficult times, very challenging, and it is here that the MZH staff really showed their mettle and professionalism by stepping up when most needed.

Thank you MZH.

Barry Stark, son of Libby (MZH resident 2018 - 2024)
